

Clare Mepstead

Retired Accounting Manager

ABOUT

I started my very career working in London, There I went from being a computer programmer, to American roulette dealer, to helping set up and run a broking business for many years, I have been exposed to diverse working conditions and meeting people from completely different sectors of society.

At age 34 I left the UK and came to Monaco where I worked for over 30 years for a Trust Company/Corporate Service Provider. Starting as an Accountant I was later responsible for the team of accountants and then as Chief Accountant I became part of the Management team.

I retired a couple of years ago and my current activities are Golf, Pilates, Tai chi and voluntary work with an association concerned with saving the ocean.

I AM LOOKING TO MENTOR

Anyone who doesn't know where they are heading in their career or is having problems in their career.
